ROSS YOUNG

Sterling outfielder of the world's champion Giants, who plays a consistently fine game, uses his head, fields brilliantly and has the high batting average of .358.

(International.)

THE Yankees have made a runaway race of it this season in the American League and have so far outdistanced their competitors that it seems almost a foregone conclusion that they will win the pennant. There was a time in the early months of the season when the Philadelphia Athletics looked threatening, but they have been unable to maintain the pace and have fallen to fifth place. Cleveland has taken second place, but is still 150 points behind the leader, and the way the Yankees are playing it seems as though it were almost impossible for that gap to be bridged. The interest of baseball followers therefore is centred chiefly on the race in the National League, where at least three clubs have an excellent chance for the flag. The formerly large lead of the Giants has been reduced, and both the Pirates and the Cincinnati Reds are now within striking distance. As a matter of fact, Chicago, Brooklyn and St. Louis are closely bunched behind the three leaders and cannot be reckoned as out of the chase. The probability is, however, that the pennant will fly in New York, Pittsburgh or Cincinnati. This is true not only because the teams representing those cities have the best percentages now, but because they have greater potential strength and are better balanced in all departments. The Giants have rather slumped of late and are holding their leadership by a precarious tenure, but they are a fighting team and play their best under fire, as has been so clearly demonstrated during the past two seasons and in the World's Series that it requires no argument.

CAUGHT AT THE PLATE

Duncan, outfielder of the Cincinnati Reds, falling a victim when a squeeze play failed in the third inning of a recent game between the Reds and the Brooklyn Dodgers. Duncan tried to score from third on Cavency's bunt, but Decatur threw him out at the plate. The play was a close one, but the ball got there a fraction of a second before the runner. This was only one of the many sparkling plays that occurred in the game, and is indicative of the snappy game the Reds are playing. They have a new lease of life this year and under the capable leadership of the veteran Pat Moran are climbing steadily toward the leaders. They are on their toes all the time, and the team counts no game lost until it is finally sewed up in the enemy's bat bag at the end of the ninth inning.

(P. & A. Photos.)

FRANK FRISCH

Sensational infielder of the Giants, who in batting, fielding and base running is one of the bright particular stars of the game. He is fielding like a demon and batting around the .343 mark.

(Underwood & Underwood.)

HUGH MCQUILLAN

One of the heroes of the last world's series, who has proved this season one of the Giant's most dependable boxmen. So far he has won eleven and lost nine games.

(International.)

JOHN MCGRAW

Veteran manager and part owner of the New York Giants, himself a brilliant third baseman in his early days, when he was one of the mainstays of the Baltimore Orioles, and who is today one of the most brainy managers in the game. He has led the Giants in the winning of many a championship and is hoping to repeat it this year.

TRAPPED AT THIRD

Snyder caught at third base as he tried to make the bag on Groh's hit in the third inning of the recent game between the Giants and the Cubs at the Polo Grounds. The Giants won the game after a rattling contest by a score of 7 to 3.

(P. & A. Photos.)

FRANK SNYDER

First string catcher of the Giants, whose deadly throwing to second has made him a terror to base stealers.

JACK SCOTT

Reliable Giant pitcher who has done great work this season, having won nine and lost five games, with a percentage of .643. (International.)

GEORGE KELLY

Elongated first baseman of the Giants, clever fielder and reliable hitter, with an average of .298.

DAVE BANCROFT

Captain and shortstop of the Giants with a batting average of .323.

CASEY STENGEL

Veteran Giant outfielder, who is always in the game from start to finish and whose batting average hovers around .341.

PIRATES' MANAGER

Bill McKechnie, manager of the Pittsburghs, who has brought his team up to third place, within striking distance of the champions. He has built up a powerful team and animated them with his own fighting spirit.

(Keystone View Co.)

HAROLD TRAYNOR

Third baseman of the Pittsburgh Nationals and one of the most capable guardians of the difficult corner that that team has ever possessed. He is playing like wildfire this season and has proved a most important factor in bringing the team up to the position it at present occupies. Not only is he a sterling fielder, but his batting has brought him to the .368 mark. He is a heavy as well as a timely hitter and has knocked out eight home runs this season. (Wide World Photos.)

JOHN MORRISON

One of the finest and most reliable boxmen of the Pirates' pitching staff. He has won 13 and lost 6 games this season, with a percentage of .684.

(Underwood & Underwood.)

CLYDE BARNHART

Right fielder of the Pittsburghs and one of the heaviest hitters in the league. He leads his team in this particular, his average being .378. He has placed five circuit clouts to his credit.

(Wide World Photos.)

PITTSBURGH'S PRIDE HONORED WITH GIFTS BY

"Babe" Adams, star veteran of the Pirates' pitching staff, is here seen with a recently presented to him by the smoky city fans who have gone wild over his brilliant playing with the Pittsburghs ever since 1907 and has been in professional ball for 15 years. He has won 8 and lost 3, with a percentage of .727.

(Underwood & Underwood.)

WALTER SCHMIDT

First string catcher of the Pirates and one of the most capable receivers in the National League. His batting average is .284. (Keystone View Co.)

WALTER ("RABBIT") MARANVILLE

Veteran shortstop of the Pittsburghs. He is a heady player, clever fielder and timely hitter. Batting average .251.

ere seen with a new car and shotgun re-wild over his brilliant work. He has been professional ball for 19 years. So far this sea-centage of .727.

GIANTS RAISE CHAMPIONSHIP PENNANT

Judge Landis, National Baseball Commissioner, in company with John Heydler, President of the National Baseball League, leading the Giant team in their parade across the Polo Grounds to raise the championship flag which they won by such strenuous efforts last season. It was the tenth National League pennant that has been brought to the metropolis. In addition they hoisted to the top of the pole the fifth world's championship banner. The boys are hoping to repeat this year and are at present in the lead, although the pesky Pirates and Cincinnati Reds keep hanging on doggedly and get in some wicked slashes.

(Wide World Photos.)

CHARLIE GRIMM

Star first baseman of the Pirates, who not only covers the initial bag in capital style, but is one of the heaviest sluggers on the team. His batting average is .356 and there are five home runs to his credit.

ONE of the most interesting features of the present season has been the rejuvenation of the Cincinnati team. Last year they were minus the services of Roush, their great centre-fielder, and this brought about a marked diminution in both their fielding and batting strength. This year, however, Roush's terms have been met or at least a satisfactory compromise has been agreed upon and he is now roaming the centre garden with all the ability that he displayed before his long vacation. His return has given Cincinnati an outfield that is not excelled in the National League. Duncan, Burns and Roush cover their territory in inimitable style, and each one of the trio is a terror to batsmen. Another feature in the Reds' success is their pitching staff, whose work this year has attracted attention all over the country. Luque, especially, with his record of 14 won and 2 lost, has proved almost invincible, and is hailed by many as a second Christy Mathewson. Donohue, Rixey and Benton have also done excellent work in the box. With this combination it is not surprising that Moran has been able to perfect his team within striking distance of the Giants. The latter concluded a long home stand on July 22 and left for the West with a margin of only three and a half games in front of the Reds, who in turn are just one full game ahead of the Pittsburghs. McGraw said that at the beginning of the season he feared Pittsburgh more than Cincinnati, but on the showing of the past three weeks it is the latter club that the Giants will have to beat to win their third straight championship. The Reds won 22 games and lost

IVY WINGO
Star catcher of the Cincinnati Reds and one of the finest backstops that ever caught a man napping at first or stealing second. He has been a marked factor in the present strong position of his team.
(Keystone View Co.)

LOUIS FONSECA
Second baseman of the Reds and a star in his position. As the pivot man in double plays he has few if any superiors. He gets everything that comes along, whether on the left or right side of the bag, and usually gets it to first in time. His batting average is .298.
(Wide World Photos.)

SAFE AT SECOND
Lively play at second during a recent game between the Reds and Dodgers when Taylor's dive into the bag made Fonseca drop the ball before he could put it on him. The Reds won the game, taking the Dodgers into camp by a score of 8 to 4.
(P. & A. Photos.)

PAT DUNCAN
Heavy hitting outfielder of the Cincinnati Reds, with a batting average of .319.
(International.)

EDDIE ROUSH
Red centre-fielder back in the game again this season and hitting the ball at a .369 clip.

PETE DONOHUE

Cincinnati boxman who has won thirteen and lost seven games this season, with a percentage of .650. His work has helped materially in keeping his team in front. (Keystone View Co.)

only 8 on the road, and so far this season they have won 7 out of 10 from the champions. This latter fact is particularly interesting, because the peculiarity of the constructed National League schedule calls for 10 games in 15 days between the two teams during the early part of August. It is in this series of contests that many close students of baseball look for the race to be decided. If the two teams stay as close together as they are now until this series begins it is highly probable that the series will have an important bearing on the ultimate outcome. That would seem to give the Reds the edge, as they have been exceptionally successful against McGraw's team. Whatever the outcome it is probable that most highly interesting and exciting games will ensue when the rivals meet and the championship may not be settled until the very last days of the season.

SAM BOHNE

Third baseman of the Reds and a crackerjack fielder. He is one of the most capable guardians of the "difficult corner." Batting average .258. (Wide World Photos.)

EPPA RIXEY

One of the leading members of the Cincinnati pitching staff. He is a left-hander and so far this season has won eleven and lost eight games, with a percentage of .579.

PAT MORAN

Manager of the Reds and one of the most crafty and cool-headed leaders in the game. He won the pennant with the Phillies and later with the Reds, and is working mightily this year to repeat.

JIM CAENEY

Shortstop of the Reds who scintillates like a star in that position and whose throwing arm is a terror to batsmen trying to reach first. He is young, heady and ambitious. His batting average is .285.

(Keystone View Co.)

STIRRING PLAY

De Berry safe at second in the fourth inning of the recent game between the Reds and Dodgers. Caveney fell while trying for a wide throw and De Berry made the bag. The game was notable because of the performance of Dazzy Vance of the Dodgers, who blanked the Reds while his comrades made the one run which was all that was needed to win.

(P. & A. Photos.)

WITH PRESIDENT AND MRS. HARDING IN ALASKA

The Chief Executive, with Mrs. Harding, is here seen returning from a tour of the town of Wrangell in the launch of the U. S. S. Henderson, the ship that carried the party to Alaska. The outing was a welcome respite from the round of official duties that had devolved upon them since their arrival in the far northwest territory.

(Keystone View Co.)

TENNIS STAR IN FALL

Although the Council of the English Lawn Tennis Association has enjoined its secretaries at tennis clubs not to allow press photographers to take pictures of some of the women players in action, it was evident that the camera was busy when Mrs. Molla Mallory, the American star, during one of her recent games at Wimbledon, slipped to the ground while attempting an almost impossible play.

(Keystone View Co.)

GIRL AND HORSE IN DIVE

Jackie Carvan, 19-year-old girl of Cincinnati, Ohio, jumping while mounted on a horse into a tank of water from a platform sixty feet high. This beats by twenty feet the record for a similar "stunt."

(I. & A. Photos.)

"READY! GO!"

Line-up of the young swimmers who took part in the recent long-distance championship swim of the United States for ten miles through the waters of the Delaware River. Nineteen-year-old Edward Keating (third from left) of the New York Boys' Club came in first, crossing the line with a 400-yard lead on the second contestant. (Keystone View Co.)

STIRRING POLO GAME

At the start of the Westchester polo season the Westchester-Biltmore Club and the Fairfield County teams were the contenders. The game was one-sided, as the Westchester team triumphed over their opponents by a score of 10 to 1. Douglas Young of the winning team is seen taking the ball down the field. Despite the disparity in the score, the Fairfield four put up a good fight, but on that day at least were outclassed.

(Fotograms.)

GRACEFUL SWAN DIVE

Miss Helen Meany, woman diver with a national reputation, caught by the camera in midair as she was making a swan dive at the Women's Swimming Association meet at the Olympic Natatorium in Newark, N. J. Her diving was one of the most picturesque features of the meet, which was largely attended.

Leonard Retains Title by Beating Tendler

RALLY by Tendler in the first round after Leonard had been having things his own way, which resulted in the title holder receiving a hard left to the jaw. This was the only round in which Tendler earned an even break in the matter of points. After that first session the matter was never in doubt. Many title bouts had supplied thrills in greater quantity and quality, but this latest test for the lightweight title, true to tradition in every respect, was held before a tremendous outpouring of men and women interested in the strenuous sport between two of the greatest lightweights of the ring today. The clash furnished enough excitement and spectacular moments for even the most exacting fight fans.

(P. & A. Photos.)

Leonard and Tendler in a clinch when Tendler tried to put over his left. It was that left which in the last meeting between the two came near proving Leonard's undoing, but the latter, during his present period of training, had studied out the best way to meet Tendler's attack, and the result of this practice made Tendler's dreaded left innocuous. Leonard met it every time and brought over a right in return that found its mark unerringly.

(P. & A. Photos.)

TENDLER boring in but being checked by Leonard's right. Although Tendler was outclassed he was by no means outgamed, but kept coming in all the time, even though at times he was so weak from the battering he received that he could scarcely stand on his feet. In the thirteenth round he was nearly out, but his gloves had been covered with resin from the ring, and Leonard demanded that they be cleaned. This gave Tendler a moment's respite and enabled him to last out the round.

(P. & A. Photos.)

BENNY LEONARD, lightweight champion, shaking hands with Lew Tendler, aspirant for his crown, at the Yankee Stadium, New York, on the night of July 23. The wonderful Harlem lad battled his way to a clear victory on points over Tendler. Only a knockout would have made more convincing the defeat of the challenger, who was outpointed, outclassed and outfought in fourteen of the fifteen rounds. Leonard's victory was glorious. He showed himself still the wonderful boxer of old, the perfect, harmonious piece of fighting humanity, with every nerve and muscle working in co-ordination and admirably concentrated. Tendler, though beaten, earned the plaudits of the crowd by a truly great stand. Only his admirable courage and commendable gameness saved him from a knockout.

REVIEW BY GENERAL PERSHING

Head of the American Army addressing men and boys undergoing training at Camp Meade, Md. ## Shoes for Summer Comfort

FRESH, upland breezes; a dip in the surf; cool, summery costumes; light, comfortable Cantilever Shoes; these are some of the things that make warm weather pleasant.

When Summer days test the feet you will find welcome relief in Cantilevers. In them your feet enjoy freedom and agreeable support. Whereas, shoes with stiff soles, rigid shanks, high heels and tight toes distract your mind and make recreation difficult.

When your foot is hindered in its proper functions, and becomes swollen from restricted circulation, the sensation of discomfort is Nature's expression of disapproval. But comfort and ease are all that you feel in the Cantilever Shoe. Largely because the flexible shank fits the flexible arch of your foot, supporting it with friendly aid but leaving it at liberty to exercise and grow strong.

Ample toe room, a natural sole line, and a low, medium, or Cuban heel contribute to your comfort in the Cantilever Shoe. The materials are lightweight and soft. The lines are in keeping with this season's style trend and present an attractive appearance.

Women everywhere are enjoying the freedom and comfort of Cantilever Shoes. Thousands have learned that the secret of arriving fresh and attractive at the end of a journey—is to wear Cantilevers when traveling. And to supply the widening circle of Cantilever friends there is a store in nearly every city in the country. Except in New York and Chicago, there is only one store to each city.

If you do not find the name of a Cantilever store near you in the partial list at the left, write the manufacturers, Morse & Burt Co., 11 Carlton Ave., Brooklyn, N. Y. When they send you the name and address of a store near you which sells Cantilever Shoes they will also enclose their new booklet, which tells about feet and shoes in an interesting way.

The Cantilever Shoe is endorsed by Women's Colleges, Women's Clubs, Public Health Authorities, Physicians, Osteopaths, Directors of Physical Education, Editors, Stage Celebrities and prominent women everywhere.
